Without Good Teeth There Cannot Be Good Health Is Keynote Kiwanis Address

Dr. Thompson, Agent and Field Secretary of the Canadian Hygiene Council Deals With Important Subject—Says Ninety-Five Per Cent of People of Canada Have Decayed Teeth—Remedy Is Largely Matter of Diet

The members of the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club and representatives of other organizations enjoyed an excellent educational address on Monday evening last by Dr. Thompson, agent and field secretary of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, and who has charge of the campaign in Alberta. The speaker gave a fluent and thoughtful address. Without good teeth, there cannot be good health, and without health a citizen cannot give the best service to the community. In Ottawa there is a Department of National Health, but this organization has no right to carry on in the provinces. The federal government has responsibilities and has subsidized fourteen health organizations in Canada. One of the strongest of these organizations is dealing with tuberculosis, and as a result of their propaganda the death rate has been reduced 43%. Another organization is the International Mental Hygiene Council, and as a result of their work patients in the mental hospitals are now treated as sick people, and the discharges now amount to 60%. Another organization is dealing with child welfare. It is now recognized that the child is the most important element in national life. Another is the Red Cross organization, which has done marvelous work. In 1920 a health program was formed, known as the Junior Red Cross, and they have practically changed the order of things, especially in the frontiers.

The Canadian Dental Hygiene Council is not a body of dentists, but is composed of laymen. The purpose of the council is to inform the people of Canada that dental decay leads to disease, and everything possible should be done to prevent dental decay. Ninety-five per cent of the people of Canada have decayed teeth. The remedy is largely a matter of diet. Food should be eaten for its mineral elements. We should eat more vegetables, fruit and dairy products and whole wheat bread. Any part of the body will restore itself, but not so with the teeth, as the enamel crown cannot be built after it is destroyed. The crown will be formed on every tooth at the age of seven years. Education will remove dental decay in the crown in course of time. We should use the teeth as cogs of a wheel. Pyorrhea is due to not using the teeth, and by the teeth not coming together correctly. Teeth should be cleaned properly so that food will not be lodged between the teeth and in the crevices. A dead nerve leads to abscesses, and this leads to pus and infection. Children three years of age should go to the dentist three or four times a year, to see that the fissures are cleaned as far as possible. Dental decay must be eliminated and every child has a right to be well.

During the evening, Mrs. Forbes Atkinson delighted the gathering with a solo and encore, accompanied by Mrs. Condie on the violin and Mrs. McMurdo on the piano.

Dr. Thompson addressed the school children in Ardian Theatre Monday afternoon, the junior classes going in a body at 2:30 p.m., and the senior and high school grades at four o'clock.

ALTA. GOVERNMENT TO IMPROVE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

Edmonton, Feb. 25.—Chris. Patterson, Edmon, made a noble effort in the Legislature on Monday to have the government consider the health of a system of state medicine, and accordingly moved a resolution to that effect.

After considerable debate it was shelved, in favor of an amendment moved by Hon. George Hoadley, as follows:

"Having due regard to the financial position of the province, the government should continue its efforts to improve the public health services rendered the people of the province, and that the government should further, in co-operation with other provinces, continue its study of health insurance, presenting the results of such inquiries to this House."

Mr. Patterson urged that the government adopt a system of state medicine without delay; a system that would provide for medical care, hospital services, and a weekly financial payment, so that the injured worker and his family could be properly cared for during the period of his injury.

South Rhodesia is steadily receiving a British population and becoming an important state.

FEDERAL PARLIAMENT OPENED WITH GREAT PAGEANTRY

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—The fourth session of the sixteenth Parliament of Canada opened Thursday afternoon, the ancient rites and ceremonies attendant upon this feature of the political life of the country being observed with all due decorum. His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Bessborough, in the presence of the Lord Justices of the Supreme Court in their scarlet and ermine robes, foreign diplomats and consular officers, wearing uniforms of their corps and their breasts agitter with high orders, fortified the chamber which was adorned with the colors of ladies' dresses and the variegated scarlet and blues of military and naval attaches.

The pageantry of the opening which sets in motion all the manifold activities of Ottawa's social season, is one of the most gorgeous spectacles of Canadian life, and far from diminishing, each year shows it increasing in both dignity and color.

At 2:45 p.m. the guard of honor arrived. This comprised three officers and 100 men from the Governor-General's Footguards, commanded by Major G. G. Chrysler, M.C., V.D., an original company commander of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion, O.C. E. F. The guards carried the King's color, garbed in their scarlet tunics and blue trousers, and wearing their khaki trousers and beret, they took post on Parliament Hill fronting the main entrance. At the same hour the thrilling notes of the great carillon rang out as John Skillecra, assistant carillonneur, played to the vast throngs assembled on the hill.

A few minutes before three o'clock the booming of artillery heralded the arrival of His Excellency, as the gun roared out the vice-regal salute. Preceded by a detachment of Dragoons, whose lances glittered in the bright sunlight, their pennons fluttering gaily in the light breeze, the Governor-General drove up to the main entrance, where he received the royal salute. Immediately afterwards he entered the parliament buildings and the procession up the Hall of Fame began. The 21st-december with "Excellency" traversed the hall with slow and measured tread, leading the column to the senate chamber. There the ceremonies opened.

The bells had already rung for the assembly of the commons in the upper chamber, and following prayers the house waited the messenger from the senate. Once more the ancient ritual was repeated. Three loud knocks on the door of the commons announced the arrival of the gentleman in black, who, bearing a message from the Governor-General, was admitted following permission from the speaker of the house.

The messenger in English and French proclaimed the desire of His Excellency for the presence of the commons in the "chamber of the honorable the senate." The vice-regal command was accompanied by much bowing and genuflection. Thereupon, headed by the sergeant-at-arms, bearing the mace and led by the speaker, the commons formed up in procession and marched to the senate chamber.

The speech from the throne was read in two languages, and with the reading the fourth session of the sixteenth parliament was formally opened. Both houses then sat down to business. (Continued on Page 8)

Obituary

ALEXANDER CUMMINGS

Another of the earliest settlers of the community passed away in the Wetaskiwin Hospital on Monday morning last, in the person of Alexander Cummings. A few days ago the deceased was seized with a stroke and he was removed to the hospital, where he received the very best medical attention and nursing, but nothing could be done to save his life. He was aged 59 years, 1 month and 10 days. He was born in Kansas and moved with his parents as a boy to Oregon, where he lived for several years, later moving to Idaho. Thirty-six years ago he came to Central Alberta on an exploration trip and decided to settle near Wetaskiwin, where he took up a homestead. Since that time he has been one of Wetaskiwin's highly esteemed and most successful farmers.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, his mother, Mrs. James Waring, and three brothers and four sisters, namely, William of Vermilion, John T. of Edmonton; Charles, of the Wetaskiwin district; Mrs. Madison of Idaho; Mrs. Thomas of California; Mrs. Torpy of Idaho, and Mrs. Robt. Jenne of Edmonton, besides a host of friends and acquaintances.

The deceased was a very public spirited citizen, and every movement having for its object the betterment of the community had his support. He was an alderman of the City of Wetaskiwin for some time, and in politics was a staunch Conservative.

The funeral takes place on Thursday afternoon of this week, service being conducted in the First United Church at 2:30 by Rev. A. L. Elliott. The interment will be in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

KAREN MARIA FORSBERG

The funeral service for Karen Maria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forsberg of the Bittern Lake district, who passed away at her home, Sunday, Feb. 16, aged 14 years, one month and three days, was held Saturday afternoon, Feb. 22, at 2 o'clock from the Crooked Lake cemetery. Rev. P. M. Meyer, assisted by C. Erickson, officiated and interment took place in the Crooked Lake cemetery. Miss Forsberg was born in Sweden, and in 1923 came to Canada with her parents. She leaves to mourn her loss, her father and mother, also four brothers and two sisters. Beautiful floral tributes were received from friends of the family.

RACHAEL ELIASSEN

There passed away at the General Hospital, Edmonton, on Sunday last, Rachael Eliassen, in her 23rd year. She recently underwent an operation from which she did not recover. Deceased came to the Wetaskiwin district about a year ago from Norway, and lived for some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Jenne of the Crooked Lake district. The remains were brought down from Edmonton on Monday, and the funeral will take place on Friday, February 28th, service being conducted at the Wang church by Rev. O. T. Asper.

BABY BRAGLEIN

The angel of death visited the Wetaskiwin hospital on Monday and removed the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Braglein, at the age of one day. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, the service being conducted by Captain Johnson of the Salvation Army. The interment was in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

GETTING CLOSER TO HOLLYWOOD

MRS. J. WILLIAMS IS TEA HOSTESS

One of the most delightful teas of the week was that on Wednesday afternoon of last week, when Mrs. J. Williams graciously opened her home to secure funds for the treasury of the W.O.M.L. No. 553. Mrs. Briggs assisted Mrs. Williams in receiving and also in serving at the dainty tea table, while the cups were aply read by Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Alderman. The donations tabled at the end of the afternoon made a very substantial sum.

C. JOHNSON RE-ELECTED IN DIV. 2

Considerable interest was created by the election of councillor in Division 2, Municipal District of Montgomerly, on Saturday, with the result that a large number exercised their franchise. C. A. Johnson was re-elected for another term, as he received 83 votes, while his opponent, Wm. Eikerman, received 34 votes.

Seed Fair Sponsored by Local Board of Trade Is an Unqualified Success

Major H. G. L. Strange, Hon. President of Canadian Seed Growers' Association In Excellent Address Stresses Importance of Keeping Farms Clean of Weeds—Mr. Buckingham, Dept. of Agriculture, Judged the Exhibits

PREMIERS ARRANGE ADVANCES TO POOL

Regina, Feb. 24.—Following a meeting held at Regina, Saturday, February 22, with officials of the three Provincial Wheat Pools and their central selling agency, Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan, Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta and Premier Bracken of Manitoba, issued the following joint statement:

"We encountered no difficulty whatever in arranging uniform legislation covering the guarantee to be given the banks for their advances to the Pool up to the present time, and to adequately finance the balance of the crop of 1929. The Central Selling Agency gave the governments the fullest information concerning their financial and sales position. The governments are perfectly satisfied with the results of the conference.

"We found as we expected that the Pool has been operating in conformity with the aims and objects of the organization. The legislation agreed upon will be introduced into the legislatures at an early date.

"In the meantime, the governments desire to make plain that this action is only in order to supplement the undertaking already arranged and not because of any impairment of the Pool's margin with the banks, or because of any doubt of the Pool's financial position, as the Pools have at present on deposit with the banks collateral valued at current market prices, at more than fifteen per cent in excess of the total of the banks loan to the Pool.

PARLIAMENT MAY CEASE GRANTING ANY DIVORCES

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Parliament may be asked at the present session to cease granting divorces. Intimation that he was considering placing a proposed resolution to this effect before the House of Commons for consideration, was made yesterday by William Irvine, U.P.A., Wetaskiwin, at the same time, J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, declared his intention to continue his attitude of last session of protesting against "wholesale granting of divorces."

MOOSEHEART LEGION HOLDS CARD PARTY

The second regular "500" party under the auspices of the W.O.M.L. No. 553, held in the Moose hall, Friday, February 21st, was another decided success, judging from the large crowd in attendance. Eighteen tables, some of the participants coming from Millet, played in the tournament for the beautiful prizes, honors going to Mrs. Z. Spencer, who received a dainty cream and sugar set, and to Mr. Beguin, who received an attractive necktie. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. R. Bartel, salt and pepper set, and to Mr. C. Edwards, an ash tray.

After a dainty lunch was served, the ladies of the room received and a short period of dancing was enjoyed, a large number of additional guests coming in. The success of the event is due to the untiring efforts and skillful management of the committee in charge, who are to be duly praised for their achievement.

These regular "500" parties are under the supervision of different committees each time, so promise variation throughout, with little repetition.

DEAN HOWES SPEAKS AT NEXT LUNCHEON

The next luncheon of the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade and Kiwanis Club will take place in the March Hotel on Monday evening next, directed commencing at 6:30. The speaker will be Dean Howes of the University of Alberta.

LORD AND LADY WILLINGDON WILL VISIT WETASKIWIN

Mayor Howatt received a communication a few days ago advising him that His Excellency Lord Willingdon would pay an official visit to Wetaskiwin on Wednesday, April 30th, between the hours of ten o'clock a.m. and twelve o'clock noon. He will be accompanied by Lady Willingdon.

Grand Manitoulin, in Lake Huron, was regarded as the home of departed spirits by the North American Indians.

The first seed fair to be held in Wetaskiwin for several years, took place on Friday last and was an unqualified success. It was sponsored by the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade, and the interest taken in the competition was very gratifying.

The entries comprised twelve of wheat, eleven of short oats, eight of long oats, seven of six-rowed barley and two of two-rowed barley—a total of forty. The exhibits formed one of the best—if not the best—collections of grains to be found anywhere in the west this year and were greatly admired by the many farmers who attended.

The judging was done by Mr. Buckingham, of the seed branch of the Department of Agriculture, and we understand he went over the samples several times before arriving at a decision as to the champions.

The prize-winners were: Wheat—1, Nels Linden; 2, E. Peterson; 3, Gust. Elgert; 4, F. R. Callies; 5, J. R. Shantz. Long Oats—1, G. Elgert; 2, Nels Linden; 3, H. G. Young; 4, L. O. Feland.

Short Oats—1, E. R. Rasmussen; 2, Wm. Milton; 3, G. E. Lind; 4, O. A. Brown.

Barley, six-rowed—1, E. R. Rasmussen; 2, E. Peterson; 3, H. G. Young; 4, F. R. Callies.

Barley, two-rowed—E. R. Rasmussen; 2, F. R. Callies.

There is no doubt but that the district will be greatly benefited as a result of the fair, as many of the farmers present purchased quantities of seed, with a determination to improve the quality and yield of their crops. Among the sales was one made by public auction, when a bushel of oats exhibited by Nels Linden, was purchased by Matt Johns, for the sum of $15.00.

Major H. G. L. Strange, honorary president of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, delivered an excellent address, in which he stressed the importance of keeping the farms clean of weeds, and urged the farmers to improve the quality of their crops as the competition on the European markets was very keen and it was of the utmost importance that the grain shipped from Canada be of the best quality that could be produced. Canadian wheat has merited a high place on the world's markets, and this must be maintained if the best prices are to be realized.

The committee in charge sincerely thank the Wetaskiwin implement dealer for lending the samples before being exhibited.

BANDIT HUNTED AFTER ESCAPE AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, Feb. 25.—Object of an extensive manhunt which is spreading rapidly to encircle the entire province, the smiling bandit who yesterday herded the entire staff of the Northwest branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada here into a vault and kept them there for an hour and a half, was being sought by police last night.

Speaking politely to the manager and the staff, the bandit twice opened the vault door a few inches so that the inmates could get fresh air and in the meantime sent each customer to the basement as he or she entered the bank.

The bandit escaped without any money, the manager telling him that the "manager" would be down later and that he alone knew the combination of the cash safe in the vault. The bandit fled after 90 minutes and fled.

C.P.R. WILL SPEND 21 MILLIONS IN WEST

WINNIPEG, Feb. 24.—Canadian Pacific Railways will expend twenty-one million dollars in Western Canada this year, it was announced today by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines, on his return from a conference at Montreal with executive officers of the company.

Branch line construction and improvement designed to increase the capacity and efficiency of lines now operating will absorb the entire appropriation for the west, Mr. Coleman said. Eleven millions are set aside for the branch line construction programme, and ten millions for improvements on existing lines.

Sudan is the chief source of the world's supply of gum arabic; also of ivory.

WETASKIWIN MAN NAMED AS LIBERAL
LEADER FOR ALBERTA

Strong probability of Hugh J. Montgomery former mayor of Wetaskiwin and former member of the legislative assembly for the same point being elected to the leadership of the provincial Liberal party was rumored in well informed political circles on Tuesday.

Coupled with his name is that of Jesse Gouge, well known mining operator of Drumheller.

A provincial convention is expected to be called in this city in March to select a leader.

It is understood that Mr. Montgomery has the support of the four northern Alberta members of the house for the leadership, namely L. A. Groulx, Groulx, Warren W. Prevey, Edmonton; Lucien Boudreau, St. Albert and John W. Frame of Athabasca.

Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., George H. Webster and Hector Lang, the other Liberal members of the house have not as yet given any hint as to their leanings.

Those supporting Mr. Montgomery's possible election feel that as one who has had both municipal and legislative experience, that he would be fully qualified to handle the post. In addition he is a man of independent means and would have the time necessary to devote to the work.

With the lending of their support to a movement to elevate Mr. Montgomery to party leadership, it goes without saying that Messrs. Groulx and Prevey are definitely out of the running for the leadership with which post, previous rumors had connected their names.

W. R. Howson, prominent barrister of this city is a strong candidate for the post, should he allow his name to stand. He has been one of the most active Liberals in the provincial party and has a large following.

No information is available as to Mr. Gouge's attitude toward the leadership, but is understood that a large section of the southern section of Liberals favor him.

However, officials of the party are confident that at the convention to be held, a unanimous choice will be made—Edmonton Bulletin.

[When seen by a Times representative Mr. Montgomery said the news that his friends had suggested his name as Provincial Liberal leader came as a great surprise, as he had not been approached in the matter. Further, he did not commit himself as to whether he would be a candidate for the responsible office or not. He did not think a pommanting convention would be held for several months, hence a hasty decision on his part was not required.]

FIND CANCER IS
PROBLEM, ALBERTA

General increase in the cases of cancer throughout Canada is arousing the medical profession to a closer study of this disease, and at the gathering of the executive committee of the Alberta Medical association in Calgary recently, the problem of the incidence and treatment of cancer came up for much discussion.

The result of the discussion was a decision to appoint a cancer committee which would take prompt measures to commence an energetic movement to counteract the increasing mortality due to cancer.

It is general knowledge among doctors working to combat cancer that their efforts are definitely handicapped by the fact that patients present themselves for diagnosis and treatment much too late. It was thought that if some means could be taken to educate the public concerning the early symptoms and signs, those suffering from this disease would be glad to consult the physician at an earlier date, when treatment would offer a reasonable hope of cure.

By using properly supervised surgical and radiological procedures in its early stages, there is no doubt in the minds of the best authorities that deaths due to cancer would be reduced approximately 50 per cent. It was the opinion of the association. Radium and x-ray therapy equipments are under consideration in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and the Alberta executive considers it high time for this province to take steps along this line.

ONE FEATHER NOT ENOUGH

Remember the old story of the Indian who heard about feather beds and thought he would try one. He took one feather, laid it on a plank and slept on it all night. In the morning he woke up with a crick in his back and growled: "White man any feather bed heap soft. White man big fool."

Some retail merchants try advertising like that. They run an advertisement once or twice and because they do not note a big increase in business say that advertising is not good for them.

One feather is all right, but it takes more than one to make a feather bed. The same principle applies to advertising. If intelligently planned and used, satisfaction and profitable returns are certain.

SOME QUEER FOODS
EATEN BY HUMANS

In other parts of the world today many dishes are prepared from animals that are considered "taboo" in this country.

For instance, monkeys are eaten by many races, including the Chinese, the natives of Ceylon, inhabitants of Trinidad, certain African tribes the aborigines of the Amazon, and the Indians of Spanish Guiana, and it is stated that the flesh is most palatable. The Africans sometimes eat the flesh of the lion, but this is not considered as nearly as good. In Java a species of bat, known as the kelong, is highly valued as food by the natives. The flesh is white, delicate and tender and generally imbued with a smell of musk. The Canadian lynx is very popular with the Indians; the African tribes are forbidden the flesh of the wolves, but it is not infrequently eaten by their sick folk. Much is heard about the fur of the skunk, but the flesh of this animal is considered a great delicacy by the Indians.

Cats and dogs form attractive dishes to the Chinese, and were eaten in the siege of Paris during the Franco-Prussian war, as well as in Belgium in 1914. And here we must not forget that, according to Pliny, puppies were regarded as a great delicacy by the Roman gourmands.

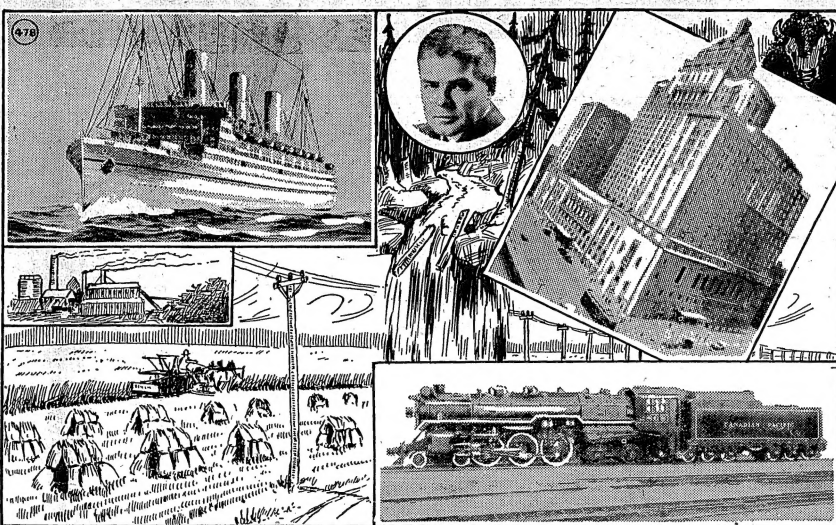

The bear, until recently, supplied food to several nations of Europe, and its hams were considered excellent. Two bears were eaten in Paris during the siege mentioned above and the flesh was reported to taste like that of the pig.

The hedgehog is a princely dish in Barbary and is also eaten in Spain, while the African Arabs prepare it as a delicacy for the sick among them.

Kangaroos are eaten by the aborigines of Australia, and their flesh is considered excellent. Soup made from the tail is reputed to be far superior to oxtail soup here again is on record that three kangaroos were also eaten in Paris during the siege.

Horses are slaughtered and their flesh is served up in many European states in a similar manner to that of beef in this country. In 1866 the first horse butcher shop was opened in Paris, and it was on record that, during the siege 65,000 horses, 1,400 donkeys and 2,000 mules were eaten by Parisians.

Horseflesh by the way is now recommended by medical men on the continent as the best remedy for anaemia.

In Abyssinia and other parts of Africa, as also in Sumatra the elephant is eaten, and steaks are cut from the beast and when cooked are declared to be pleasant meat. Elephants were also eaten during the siege in Paris, elephant liver being considered finer than that of a goose or duck.

Elephant's trunks and tongue are also good food and after long simmering much resemble the hump of a buffalo and the tongue of an ox, but all the other meat is tough and from its peculiar flavor only to be eaten by a hungry man. In Abyssinia the rhinoceros is also eaten, and the flesh of the hippopotamus, if not a delicacy, a substantial one.

Cuckoo is not an uncommon dish on the continent, and is considered by the Arabs a great delicacy. The natives of Australia eat parrot and cockatoos, whilst in Africa the ostrich affords an abundant banquet to many savage tribes. It is said to taste like very inferior turkey. The crane was eaten by Romans, and it is mentioned in England as being served up as a sumptuous dish at splendid entertainments as early as the Norman conquest and as late as the reign of Henry VIII. At the enthronement toast of George Nevil, Archbishop of York, there were 204 cranes, 204 bitterns and 400 herons.

And here we must not forget that, according to Pliny, puppies were regarded as a great delicacy by the Roman gourmands.

The bear, until recently, supplied food to several nations of Europe, and its hams were considered excellent. Two bears were eaten in Paris during the siege mentioned above and the flesh was reported to taste like that of the pig.

The hedgehog is a princely dish in Barbary and is also eaten in Spain, while the African Arabs prepare it as a delicacy for the sick among them.

Kangaroos are eaten by the aborigines of Australia, and their flesh is considered excellent. Soup made from the tail is reputed to be far superior to oxtail soup here again is on record that three kangaroos were also eaten in Paris during the siege.

Horses are slaughtered and their flesh is served up in many European states in a similar manner to that of beef in this country. In 1866 the first horse butcher shop was opened in Paris, and it was on record that, during the siege 65,000 horses, 1,400 donkeys and 2,000 mules were eaten by Parisians.

ers me; all of my friends have to go along. There is just one place where I do shine. In church is where I can strut my stuff, and oh how I do lord it over the nickels and dimes with no big fellows to interfere.

Everybody just looks around my way when they hear my big "plump" into the collection plate. I just get up and look the preacher in the eye (he always looks for me and smiles and looks pleased when he sees me) and I say to him (or think it) "ain't I the cat's pyamas today," and he just seems to take on new life and stomp right there and thanks the good Lord for the many blessings. Backaches and Headaches

Mrs. Murray Tebbutt, Westwood, Ont., writes:—"For years I had been subject to backaches and headaches, and could find no remedy that really seemed to relieve me until a neighbor told me about Doan's Kidney Pills.

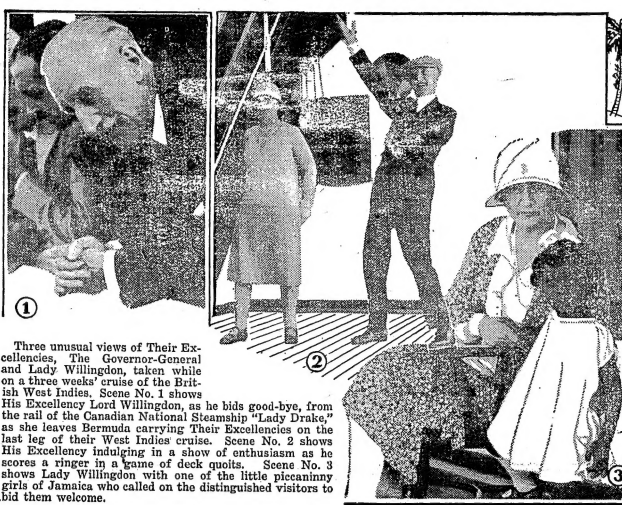

"I hesitated, for a while, about taking them, but finally I got a box and found to my great satisfaction that both the backaches and headaches were slowly but surely leaving me, so I got two more boxes and before I had finished the second one I was feeling very different.

"My work became a pleasure again, and today I am in perfect health."

Of Course... you can serve it hot

Most people want a hot breakfast dish for a cold day. Shredded Wheat is deliciously warming when eaten with hot milk. Crisp the biscuits in the oven and pour hot milk over them. The flavory shreds retain enough crispness to encourage thorough chewing—that's one reason it's so good for children. Delicious for any meal with fresh or stewed fruits.

Dar Brings Home the Bacon

It was late spring and the jack-oak leaves were in full leaf. In the shaded and mossy places violets were blooming modestly. The air was a soft haze that purpled the tops of the higher hills, and in the grassy meadow larks were whistling.

But it was not the beauties of Nature that called forth the admiration of practical Dar Jackson. He had no time to waste on green hills and tumbling streams. His satisfied smile was all for the great Poland

China hog, Champion Rex IV, who panted in the road before him. One end of a long rope was clutched in the garbled fist of the heavy shouldered farmer. The other end tethered the sharp-hoofed hind leg of the 300-pound hog.

Champion Rex IV had, with the perversity of his hog mind, deserted the succulent alfalfa shoots and wandered into the timber searching for last year's acorns. Placidly, but panting and with many stops, he was being led back to the home pastures. During every pause for breath Dar Jackson caressed with glinting eyes the sleek sides and fat hams of the great Poland abruptly terminated. A stiffed curse. Then quiet.

Dar Jackson's face was black with rage. He could excuse the dust and the noise of careless drivers. He could even occasionally overlook the death of a wayward chicken in the path of the car. But Champion Rex IV was worth all $1,500 of the pride of the farmer's heart. And this was not a Rolls-Royce—not even a good truck—simply an old sliver that was not worth one of Champion Rex's hams.

"Ought to take this club to 'em and finish 'em off," he snarled to himself as he glowered at the men on the ground. "I'll take 'em down to Judge Duffy, that's what I'll do. Sue 'em for damages—and take the judgment out-a their hides."

He drew his jackknife from his pocket and cut the rope from the dead hog's leg. Then with a heavily shot foot he rolled the unconcerned driver to the edge of the road near his dazed companion. "Tightly he tied the right wrist of one to the left of the other, using a short length of rope cut from the coil. Then either end of the remainder he fastened to the free wrists. When the men regained their senses they were hitched like a team of horses and Dar Jackson held the lines with a practiced fist.

Dar Jackson and his strange team turned down the road toward Madison. As the driver passed the gladness he had so unceremoniously kicked, his natural thriftiness asserted itself and he picked it up. They had gone no more than 100 yards before the team was well broken as to cut and rein sense, thanks to the heavy good and the well-trained driving hand. With curses and blows Dar hurried his team at half-past.

As they neared the first bend there came to them a confused sound of shouting and the crunch of running feet. As with a single impulse the hitched men turned and dived toward the brush at the side of the road. Dar Jackson dropped the bag, planted his feet firmly, and his team sat smartly back on their haunches.

Around the bend streamed a motley array of men armed with rifles, shotguns and clubs, Marshal Tom Jones in the lead. As they approached Dar Jackson and his prisoners they came to an abrupt halt.

"Where did you git them, Dar?" panted the perspiring marshal. "It's a darn wonder they didn't plug you. Did you git the loot, too?"

The astonished marshal looked squarely into the faces of the prisoners. Then he straightened. "Yep, it's them all right. This one here is 'Sloop' Malone who cracked—the safe, and this little shrimp is 'Jersey Bill' Ginner."

Then turning to Dar Jackson he patted the farmer on the back. "Dar, old boy, you've done captured single-handed two of the slickest and wickedest safe blowers in the state. There's a $2,000 reward for them, and another thousand if you've got the loot. Cracked the safe of the Beville bank last night and made away with fifty thousand in bills. We got word they headed this way. Figgered they might turn into the hills at the fork. We were just high-tailing it up the way to head them off. How did you git 'em, anyway?"

Dar Jackson handed the lines to the marshal. Then he picked up the black bag. "Reckon here's the loot," he stated. "I got 'em easy enough. Here's 'em come' up the road. Figgered there was something wrong. When I seen they was both wearin' goggles I knew it. Only one way to stop 'em. I shoved Champion Rex in front of their car and he just natcherly wrecked the works. Poor old Champion Rex. He's deader than a harrin', but this here reward'll buy a couple of hogs as good as him."

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT

The food taken into the body is used either as a source of energy or for tissue building. In order that it may be available for such purpose, the food, as taken, passes through a series of chemical changes which we call digestion, following which it is assimilated in the tissues. It is then available for use as energy. Energy is required to move the muscles; it is also needed to keep the various organs of the body in operation, and, in addition, it is required to maintain the heat of the body. In order to meet the body needs for energy, and also to provide for growth and the replacement of worn-out tissue, a certain amount of food is required. If sufficient food is not taken, the body functions below par, and if an excess over the amount required is taken, it is stored up as fat. Outside of those cases where there is disease which upsets certain glands whose internal secretions have some control over nutrition, the putting on of weight means that more food is being eaten than is required.

The amount of food required by different individuals varies a great deal. The growing school child requires about as much as an adult, because not only is the child active, but he is growing. Those individuals whose occupations call for vigorous use of the muscles require more food than do those who sit most of the day. Even among those of similar activity, there is a difference—one person normally using more for to keep his body going than another. By keeping watch on your weight, you can soon learn if you are eating more than you need. Weight that gradually Increases over the normal, taking into consideration age, sex and height, is an indication that the food intake should be reduced. It is much easier to avoid overweight than it is to reduce after the excessive pounds have been added on.

It is a good plan to watch your weight. It is not suggested that you live with one eye on the weight scale, but a check-up once a month is advisable in order to note any sudden loss of weight and to guard against increasing weight after the age of forty, neither of which is desirable from the health standpoint.

CONCISE INFORMATION ABOUT MUNICIPAL HOSPITALS

As the proposed Municipal Hospital scheme is one of the live topics of the day, we have received a lot of information from the Department of Health bearing on the subject, which undoubtedly is correct. For the information of those interested in the proposition, we quote hereunder a number of pertinent facts.

Municipal Hospitals are operated only in the Province of Alberta.

There are twenty-one municipal hospital districts in the Province.

No Municipal Hospital has increased its taxation.

Every Municipal Hospital at the end of 1927 had a surplus.

Municipal Hospitals collect a revenue from the people of the whole District.

Other type of hospitals get their revenue from patients who often find it difficult to pay.

The success of every Municipal Hospital in operation is a proof of the scheme.

These institutions are the property of the people of the Hospital District. They are operated and managed by the elected representatives of the people of the Hospital District.

About half the rural population of the Province is served by the Municipal Hospitals.

The Department of Health will co-hospitals other than Municipal Hospitals is approximately $35.00. The cost per case in a Municipal Hospital is less than $15.00.

Over 5,000 maternity cases have been taken care of since 1910 at a cost of less than $15.00 per case including the baby.

The average cost per case in all comparative figures of a confinement case:

At Home 10 Days
Doctor's account, one visit $45.00
Nurse's account 40.00
Nurse's board 10.00
Patient's board 10.00
Supplies 5.00

Total $110.00

Hospital in City 10 Days
Hospital fees 35.00
Doctor's account 35.00
Supplies 5.00

Train fares, patient and one other 5.00
Ambulance or taxi fees 2.00
Hotel fee for 10 days 30.00
Board for that time 10.00
Visit from family 6.00

Total $108.00

Municipal Hospital, 10 Days
Doctor's account $35.00
Hospital account 10.00

Total $45.00

The difference is enough saved to pay the hospital tax on 320 acres for eight years.

The Hospital Tax is levied by a mill rate on the assessed valuation as set by the Equalization Board.

The higher the average assessment in any Municipal District the lower mill rate will be necessary.

The average quarterly section tax is $45.00.

Every scheme must provide for hospitalization of male farm help who have worked for and resided with farmers within the hospital district for three months within the previous six months.

The assessment in Cities, Towns, and Villages is on an equitable basis with that of the rural area, taking into consideration population and assessed values.

POOL OFFICIALS ARRIVE HOME FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

New York, N.Y., Feb. 26.—Officials of the Canadian wheat pool, returning here Tuesday on the liner Aquitania, were non-committal when questioned with regard to the outcome of the conference held in Great Britain with government officials and representatives of the millers.

A. J. McPhail, president of the Canadian pool and W. A. McLeod, publicity director, landed on a day when the markets of North America, burdened with a surplus of wheat, were scenes of turbulent trading with wheat prices still dropping sensationally and then rallying before the close.

They had been to Great Britain at the invitation of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas who on his recent tour of Canada suggested conferences over the situation confronting Canadian growers through the failure of European buyers to take Canadian wheat at prevailing prices.

"We have no doubt as to the ultimate outcome," Mr. McPhail said, "the market will right itself."

Both pool officials said they found British millers still preferred Canadian wheat and were prepared to pay more than for wheat from other sources.

Mr. McPhail, however, was not prepared to say what differential in price would start the movement of Canadian grain across the Atlantic in quantities to relieve the Canadian situation.

"We found that stocks of grain in store on the European market were rapidly becoming depleted and concluded that the time is not far distant when European buyers will again start bidding for Canadian wheat," said Mr. McPhail.

"It seems strange that with a lighter crop than usual on the American market, both north and south, there should be an almost paradoxical drop in the prices offered by European buyers," both officials said. "We can explain this situation, however, by pointing out that European consumers this year are using a greater amount of domestic grain, owing to unusually heavy crops in their own countries."

"I might say, said Mr. McPhail, "that the market to which North America has been treated during the past few days has been the result, more or less, of the fact that sheep follows sheep, and the creation of a low price for grain has created low bids. You will always find that where the price is higher the buying is more enthusiastic."

The two officials saw no cause for alarm in the present situation. They had every hope that the present orgy of low prices is merely a temporary manifestation, and that a recovery will follow in a comparatively short time. "The British millers, when we were over there, admitted that the prices asked for Canadian wheat were low in comparison with the value," said Mr. McPhail.

"You must remember, though, that the miller, like everyone else, is affected by the current prices. If the grain prices are low, he must sell his flour at a lower rate than if they were high."

SECOND SOUTH AND NORTH ROAD IS REQUESTED

Edmonton, Feb. 26.—Urging the construction of a second north and south highway, paralleling the Edmonton-Calgary highway, a delegation of ten representatives of the districts attended upon Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, and submitted reasons why it should be done.

The delegation, which was introduced by A. L. Sanders, A. G. Andrews and G. A. Forster, members from that part of the province, was made up of residents of Progress and Wheatland municipal districts, the towns of Castor, Galahad and Killam, and other points.

The need of such a highway is increasing, it was pointed out, by the spokesmen for the delegation, as traffic is growing from year to year, and at that location it would serve a dual purpose both as a tourist and a market road. Possible oil developments in Painter Creek, north of Castor, was mentioned as an additional argument in favor of the scheme.

The highway thus proposed would ultimately form a district connecting from Taber to Ranfurly, but the section most urgently desired at present is that between Hanna and Killam. There is already a road there, but the delegation asked that the present road be improved and reconstructed, bringing it up to standard, as it is unsuitable in the present condition for the heavy traffic already going over it.

An alternate north and south road such as that suggested was recommended by the Good Roads Association some years ago.

TRY THIS—ON A FRIEND

Mrs. Herman H. Williams, an artist of Mt. Victory, Ohio, stood like a statue with three swarms of bees weighing about 50 pounds bearing down on her recently, then carried them to a hive without being stung.

Mrs. Williams was summoned to settle a swarm of bees that had gathered on the branch of a briar bush. When they had swarmed she cut off the briar and started toward a hive. Another swarm settled down on her left arm. Fearing to move lest the bees sting her to death, she remained motionless while the insects settled. She started for the hive a second time and a third swarm settled on her neck and shoulders. Again she remained motionless for a quarter of an hour until the bees became quiet. Then she took them to the hive and, aided by a "smoker," put the bees safely away.

PARALYSIS

Paralysis appears to be a disorder of the muscle, but it is, in reality, a condition which results from a disorder of the nerves or the nervous system. Paralysis does occur as the result of infection, the action of bacteria or living disease germs in muscles or a relaxed state; in either of these, complete or partial loss of control exists, and the muscles involved or the part served by the muscles, is said to be paralyzed.

The disorder of the nervous control is caused by damage to the nervous tissue. The extent of relief which may be given to the paralyzed depends upon the cause of the condition. Many forms of the disease can be helped; some can be improved; for others, unfortunately, little or nothing can be done. Prevention is chiefly through the control of infections.

If the wall of the blood vessel become weakened, it may give way under this pressure and haemorrhage result. The blood vessels of the brain are particularly delicate and that is why they give way first. The weakening of the blood vessel walls occurs as a result of disease, particularly syphilis. In other cases, the break is not due to any particular weakening of the blood vessel walls,

CAMROSE SKIER ALL-ROUND CHAMPION

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 24.—John Nordme of Camrose, Alberta, won yesterday the all-around Canadian Ski championship, carrying with it the Sir Henry Thornton trophy, when, after placing second in the ski jumping on Saturday he ranked fourth in the 12-mile cross-country here this afternoon. In the jumping event Nordme attained distances of 121 and 119 feet for a point score of 148.80 while he covered the 12-mile cross-country course in 1 hour, 36 minutes and 28 seconds.

ANGLERS GOT BIG HAUL IN ALBERTA

Alberta anglers are keen sportsmen for they landed nearly two million pound of fish last year. To be strictly correct, the total was 1,755,500 and the estimated value of the fish around $206,250, according to the annual report forwarded to Ottawa by R. T. Rodd, head of the dominion fisheries branch at Edmonton.

The fish caught included trout, pike, perch, Arctic grayling and Rocky Mountain whitefish. If anyone does not know what the Rocky Mountain whitefish is like, the fishery experts will tell you it is like a whitefish, only it frequents rivers and will take a fly.

So far as the actual number of permits are concerned, there was an increase in angling last year, but the conditions at one or two of the chief points were not so good, so the fishermen were a little out of luck. This, for instance, was the case at that popular fishing resort, Cold Lake.

It will not be a great while, however, before the fishermen will begin to look over his rods and start mending tackle, and turn his glance to the almanac to count up the weeks of the opening seasons in Alberta very according to localities, as on the Red Deer river and northern Saskatchewan river it opens on May 15th, and the Elbow river and further north it starts on June 15th.

However, in spite of the interest taken in angling, commercial fishing in Alberta is a portion of its backbone as a wealth-producer. The figures issued by Mr. Rodd covering the commercial fishing show that there was a net increase over 1928 in the actual amount caught of 781,200 pounds. The total amount of fish marketed realized $732,197, which was a drop of some $3,000 compared with the previous year.

The reason for this, states Mr. Rodd, is that while there was a good catch, prices were down and the fisherman did not do so well as the result.

THE CURLING WIDOWER

I met a curling widower and he was very glum. He said, "I don't know where clean socks or meals are coming from; there is a homestead at the rink, and all the wives are there. All husbands true are cast aside and told to take the air." I listened to his sad lament and then I chanced to say: "Of course you won't be at the rink to see the ladies play." He shook his head and off he went, and I felt very sad. To think a woman could be cruel to such a kindly lad.

But as the 'spiel was warming up and competition grew. The little group of husbands at the rink was growing, too. At first they sat in silence and appeared a trifle bored. And then they clapped, and then they cheered, and then they fairly roared. And as the games drew to a close the spouses stood in line. And broadly grinning as curlers scored as if to say "She's mine!"

I met a curling widower, and he was very gay. He said: "You surely should have seen the little woman play; I think that curling is the greatest sport you'll find. And here's a husband who is glad his wife's the curling kind." And as he pointed to the shelf, he proudly told me: "There, My Lizzy always carries home the choicest silverware."

HARD BOILED
A bobbed haired waitress very much out of sorts called haughtily to the table at which a grouchy customer. She slammed down the cutlery, snatched a napkin from the pile and tossed it in front of him, then striking a furious pose snapped "What 'eh want?"

"A couple of eggs," growled the customer.

"How 'ju want 'em?" "Just like you are."

OHI
He: "Now that we are married, perhaps I might venture to point out a few of your little defects."
She: "Don't bother, dear, I am quite aware of them. It was those little defects that prevented me from getting a much better man than you are."

ASSEMBLY AGREED UPON RETURN OF ALBERTA RESOURCES

Premier J. E. Brownlee stood on the threshold of one of the crowning achievements of his career when the legislature rose on Wednesday at 6 p.m. and adjourned until 3 p.m. Thursday, for at that moment the agreement signed between the Dominion and provincial governments for the return to Alberta of its natural resources was virtually ratified, there remaining only the giving of third reading to the enabling bill, a more or less formality, which will take place at the end of the session.

The crowded galleries in the house looked down on one of the most momentous occasions in Alberta's history.

During the afternoon the debate on second reading had been brought to a scintillating conclusion, and then on the suggestion of the Premier the bill was immediately cast into the committee of the whole assembly for clause by clause discussion and this was completed just prior to the adjournment of the house.

No division was required in the debate on second reading and none was required on the various clauses as discussed in committee.

However, Premier Brownlee said that in order to avoid any chance of misunderstanding and to obviate any objection, third reading would not be given the bill until the end of the session, and he would stand prepared to recommend the bill to committee for discussion of any clauses at any time.

The bill brought forth little contentious matter. As second reading is to debate the principle of a bill, those taking objections to the agreement as a whole had ample opportunity to voice their objections. Then, in committee, there was every opportunity afforded members of offering criticisms of the individual clauses. But not one was changed.

A feature of the afternoon's proceedings was the closing of the debate by Premier Brownlee. Here the Premier replied to the various criticisms, few in number and all evenly tempered, that had been directed at the bill.

Both Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., Liberal leader, and D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, had levelled their strongest criticisms at the appointment to the special commission to investigate the question of whether there were money due Alberta over and above those provided for in the agreement, of F. E. Osborne, former mayor of Calgary.

BREAKFAST MOST IMPORTANT MEAL

At no time in the world's history has the question of diet reached the importance it has at the present time. Physicians when prescribing for the ill of humanity lay great stress on what to eat and what not to eat and it is interesting to note that whole wheat plays a prominent part in the special commission to investigate the question of whether there were money due Alberta over and above those provided for in the agreement, of F. E. Osborne, former mayor of Calgary.

What the meal lacks in volume it must make up in nourishment essential to the development of husky youngsters, vigorous men and healthy women. Of all the grains grown, wheat is the richest in food value. Why children the morning cereal for breakfast is the necessary element. After the night's rest their small stomachs are empty and it is imperative that good nourishing food be taken into the system. The food children eat in the morning can do them the most good or the most harm. If the flavor of the cereal is appealing, no coaxing will be necessary and the flavor is appealing when the cereal happens to be the ever popular Shredded Wheat—the crisp Biscuit that requires no cooking and may be served with any of the fresh, or hot-house fruits served at the family table. Many suggestions on how to serve Shredded Wheat will appear in this paper from time to time in interesting Shredded Wheat advertisements describing the delicious combinations that can be made with this cereal for hot weather and winter meals.

SAVE THE BABY TEETH

Because the first teeth or baby teeth are replaced by the secondary or permanent teeth, it should not be thought that they can be neglected and that they are of little or no importance. A clean mouth does much to make a healthy, comfortable, happy baby. A clean mouth means sound healthy teeth, which are needed to chew the food that will make the baby grow.

may, they cannot be used for chewing; the child does not secure the nourishment he needs, and, as a result, he suffers. The tooth with an unfilled cavity will likely develop a gum boil, or an abscess may form at the root. This, in turn, may infect the second tooth, or the infection may pass into the body and damage the heart.

Healthy teeth are the result of proper food. The diet of the expectant mother determines the kind of teeth her baby will have for his first set. The diet of the infant and young child makes the permanent teeth and protects the first teeth. Most important of all foods is breast milk. At three months, strained orange or tomato juice is added to the diet and, a little later, cod liver oil. Cooked strained cereal is added at six months, and cooked strained green vegetables at seven months.

The first permanent tooth to appear is a back tooth or molar. It comes in behind the last baby molar and is the sixth from the centre. We mention this tooth particularly because of its importance. It appears during the fifth, sixth, or seventh year and is often called the six-year molar. It is frequently regarded as one of the first set and neglected. It is most important, however, that these four teeth be preserved, because upon their proper position depends much of the arrangement of all the permanent teeth. Thumb-sucking, the use of a comfort or the presence of adenoids which cause the child to breathe through

STERILIZATION OF DAIRY UTENSILS

(Experimental Farms Note)
Recent experiments conducted by the Division of Bacteriology at the Central Experimental Farm have shown that solutions of hypochlorite are remarkably effective in the destruction of bacteria commonly encountered in milk cans and other utensils. Readily prepared by diluting the concentrated solution with cold water, the hypochlorite rinse side fair to replace the old method of scalding, which was rarely effective on account of the large quantities of boiling water required to destroy the bacteria present.

The hypochlorite method is quicker, cheaper, more convenient and more effective, but the best results can be obtained only where certain conditions are fulfilled. The first of these is that the hypochlorite rinse must be used only on utensils that have been thoroughly rinsed, since traces of milk residue or dirt quickly rob it of its germ-killing power. Again, it is important that the rinse be used in sufficient strength and allowed to remain in contact with the entire inner surface for a sufficient length of time. With the usual strength of rinse at least 15 seconds contact should be given, while a longer period will result in more complete destruction of the bacteria present. Finally, care should be taken to prevent corrosion of metal utensils, since most hypochlorites will attack the metal if left in contact with it for long periods. This possibility may be readily avoided by postponing the sterilizing rinse until immediately before milking, or else by inverting the utensils on a draining rack so that all remaining traces of moisture will evaporate as rapidly as possible.

ENDEAVORING TO COPE WITH SPREAD OF TUBERCULOSIS

(By Edna Kells)

Working wherever the need is apparent, a small group of people are endeavoring to cope with the spread of tuberculosis through the province of Alberta. All these workers come under the Department of Public Health of the Alberta government.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.

Out of his experience was born a famous prescription. He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders, are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All druggists have it.

but they work in conjunction with local physicians. Few realize that out from the Central Alberta Sanatorium near Calgary, where many tuberculosis patients are cared for, there radiates a constant stream of service reaching right into the homes. When a patient leaves the sanatorium, he is still under observation and receives much help, and patients who have never been there are guided indirectly.

Three months after a patient returns home, the sanatorium sends out a questionnaire asking how he is and what he is doing. At the end of six months, another questionnaire is sent him, and then every year thereafter. The reports that come in are consolidated.

Cards are grouped according to towns and railway lines. These serve as a guide to the travelling diagnostician, Dr. A. Armstrong. Periodically Dr. Armstrong makes a trip along certain railway lines, having previously communicated with the doctors in the various towns announcing his intention, and giving them a list of patients in that locality whom he would like to see. He also notifies expatriates that if they or members of their families would like to be examined they should get in touch with the local doctors. The sanatorium records regarding patients go to local doctors for their guidance.

All patients are advised to be re-examined from time to time. If it is found they are sleeping, they are advised to have treatment. If they can have sanatorium treatment they are advised to do so. Those who cannot are told that the sanatorium will write their local doctor, telling him their condition and advising them to see the doctor and discuss the situation.

Last year Dr. Armstrong travelled over 5000 miles, interviewed 110 physicians, 91 of who had referred patients to him, and examined 244 patients. Chest clinics conducted by the sanatorium doctors are held regularly in Edmonton and Calgary, and every two or three months a doctor goes to Drumheller, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge and holds a clinic of one or more days. Other points are visited when possible and necessary. It has been found that there is more tuberculosis in the central and northern part of Alberta than in the south. This is largely due to the large settlements of Ukrainians among whom the disease is rampant.

In both Edmonton and Calgary the provincial health department has made arrangements so that people who cannot afford to be X-rayed may have this examination at the clinic's expense.

W. C. T. U.

Figures are telling the story and providing the proof.

In the fiscal year ending March, 1929, Canada's importation of imported liquors alone at wholesale prices totalled nearly $50,000,000, showing an increase of nearly $3,000,000 in a year. The sale of beer was additional. With that added, it is estimated that Canada's total drink bill exceeds $200,000,000.

Canada's own story of her present liquor policy is further told by Mr. Elmore Philpott, Editor of the Toronto Globe, by answers given in reply to the seven following questions asked Nov. 15, 1929 and answered by Mr. Philpott, Nov. 22, 1929:

1—Is it your opinion that Government Control makes for real temperance?—Reply: No.

2—Does Government Control increase or decrease the consumption of liquor?—Reply: Liquor consumption is doubled in Ontario in two years.

3—Does Government Control decrease or increase number of drunken drivers of automobiles?—Reply: Drunken drivers have multiplied by ten while cars doubled.

4—Have deaths from accidents due to drunken drivers increased under Government Control?—Reply: Yes, enormously.

5—Have industrial accidents decreased under Government Control?—Reply: No. Increasing 7 per cent faster than payrolls.

6—Has Government Control eliminated the bootlegger?—Reply: Large bootlegger multiplied, but smaller bootlegger multiplied.

7—Has Government Control proved any benefit to the young people?—Reply: No.

Have You An Acid Stomach?

When gas, pain and distress follow a good meal, it is an almost sure sign of "too much acid" in your stomach. Get rid of it now for it is dangerous. Ulcers are apt to follow. No matter how much acid is in your stomach, you can enjoy and relish your next meal without fear of after effects, if you have some Bisurated Magnesia handy to prevent the trouble before it starts. Try it. Eat whatever you like in reason, and then take a little Bisurated Magnesia to neutralize the acid, sweeten your stomach and protect the stomach lining. Doctors recommend Bisurated Magnesia—thousands use it because it positively prevents stomach trouble or stops the worst attacks in less than five minutes. Get a trial package, either powder or tablets, from your druggist, use as directed, and indigestion and stomach troubles will go like magic.

PREPARING

SEED GRAIN

(Experimental Farms Note)
The preparation of grain for seed should begin before harvest. While the grain is still standing impurities can be noted which will not be visible in the threshed grain. These impurities can either be rogued out or portions of the field which are clean may be cut and threshed separately. When threshing, the work of cleaning grain may be lessened considerably by saving the best and plumpest grain as it is delivered by the machine. Different portions of the field may give a different quality of grain. The best should be saved for seed. In threshing, care should be taken not to crack the grain or peel the hull from barley or oats as this often causes a loss in percentage germination and damaged kernels are difficult to remove from sound grain by any cleaning apparatus. Before commencing to clean grain for seed, care should be taken to have the mill perfectly free from all seeds. If properly operated, most cleaners will do good work and, if care is taken at threshing time to select the best and cleanest grain, the work of the fanning mill may be lessened and better work may be expected. Grain saved for seed should be stored in a clean, dry bin which will remain dry. Excess moisture will cause heating and heating may injure the germination. Wheat, oats, and barley should be treated for smut. This can be done successfully with either formalin or copper carbonate dust. Formalin can be used for any grain while copper carbonate should be used only for wheat, bullock oats, or barley. For the "Loose Smut" of wheat, the hot water treatment is the only one to use. It is desirable to use copper carbonate whenever possible as the treatment can be made at any time before seeding and does not affect the germination. Grain treated with formalin should be sown as soon as possible after being treated as standing after this treatment often causes poor germination.

APPENDICITIS

When your appendix is distended, And your stomach is up-ended, And the pain in your abdomen Makes you fret and sweat and scream; When you double up in terror, Why there can't be any error, You've got appendicitis And it isn't any dream.

You may think it indigestion, And you'll ask yourself the question, Have I taken any poison? Have I swallowed any snails? And then a pain will stab you, While a clammy sweat will grab you; Sure, you've got appendicitis And your nerve—it almost falls.

Then you hurry to the surgeon While your stomach keeps on urging, And he gives you the "once over" With a scrutinizing eye.

Then he feels your poor old tummy, And the pressure, "Oh! By lummy"— Almost makes you want to cuss him To his home beyond the sky.

Then he puts you under ether While you see your Uncle Peter, And you hear the lovely music And the chiming of the bells.

Then he takes his little stabber, Without any more palaver, And he amputates that "it-bit" And to the nurse he tells:

Put this duffer under cover In a bed with sheet of rubber; Do not give him any water, Do not give him any food; And your throat is dry and parching While the nurses go by marching With the ice in tinkling glasses, And you think them very rude.

Then each day you feel improving And you want to be a-moving, Until those gas pains hit you, And, Oh, boy! They're like a spear The way they jab and tangle In every nook and angle; Just make you feel like jumping up And landing on your ear.

At last the session's over And you feel yourself in clover, And you thank the family doctor For a neat and tidy job. But you often think and shiver When he pushed aside your liver And clipped from your intestines That little bit of blob.

OIL FIELD CRIPPLED WHEN DERRICKS FALL

Last week a wind of hurricane force swept down on the Turner Valley oil field, toppling 12 derricks, causing considerable damage to homes and store buildings, disrupting power and telephone service, and playing havoc with the settlement generally.

Oil development in the valley was completely tied up and derricks as well as many small buildings were reduced to a tangled mass of timber. Windows in many large structures were blown out while telephone and power lines crashed to the ground as the poles snapped off in the terrific wind.

The wind also hit the town of High River and left in its wake confusion and extensive damage. The rural telephone systems was put out of order and many windows were broken, while school children miraculously escaped injury when several wind-own in the school crashed inward under the strain.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At least a million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready. Always safe to use in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fussy, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every drugstore has it.

WELL WRECKED WHEN NITRO LETS GO

Calgary, Feb. 19.—Wrecking the derelict and rocking the neighborhood with its violence, an explosion at Royalty No. 23 at 1:30 a.m. caused damage of unknown extent. The rig was destroyed, but what other damage had been done had not been determined, stated J. H. McLeod, production manager of the Imperial Oil company.

The explosion occurred when preparations were being made to set off 1,000 quarts of nitro-glycerine at the bottom of the well. A part of the big charge was being lowered into the well when it was blown back by an accumulation of gas. Fortunately no one was injured by the explosion.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener. Mothers should have a spoonful of Phillips for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescription product, physicians endorse for general use. The name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U.S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. since 1875.

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

NINETY AND NINE

(By Walt Mason)

Ninety-nine are daily driving their old busses, every day, always planning, always striving, all the statistics to obey; they will halt, at intersections as the stop signs indicate, and accept the cop's corrections without trying to argue. One goes scorching here and yonder, whooping up, and down the line, and he doesn't pause to ponder over any warning sign. And the plodding, footsore voters, looking at this fellow, wait, "All these people driving motors should be rounded up in jail." Ninety-nine go sauntering on the asphalt or the bricks, and the roadway they're not hogging, and they try no fancy tricks. They are anxious that the others should be happy, should be gay, for they all are men and brothers, all should have the right of way. Ninety-nine are kindly mortals, they salute us as they pass; they are shedding smiles and chorlites as they step upon the gas. One is reckless and unheeding as he swings along his path, he is dodging, he is speeding, causing forty kinds of wrath. And the people, by the grotesque, in the dingle and the glen, say, "These people driving autos should be herded in the pen." Ninety-nine are strictly sober as they drive along the trail; they're not full of brown October, or the other brands of ale. They have slipped no stoups of whiskey, they'd consider that a sin, they are not unduly tricky as a consequence of gin. One is loaded up with bitters, he is loaded to the tiles, and he maims some human critters as he hits up sixty miles. And the delegates surviving cry aloud, "Ah, woe is me. All these people who are driving should be on the gallows-tree!"

Travelling 180 miles in 55 hours of actual skiing from Jasper Park to Lake Louise, five skiers, who will compete at Banff Carnival have just completed the longest and most hazardous trip of the continent. In all, the time taken was over a week and during the trip they sometimes slept in the open, and at other times in wardens' and old trappers huts. All came through in the pink of condition.

In the province of Quebec there is now a total length of 12,502 miles of paved, macadamized and gravelled roads, which is 38 per cent of all rural roads in the province. How one woman lost fat and gained health

Many people who are fully aware of the health-giving properties of Kruschen-Salts have not yet heard of the wonderful effects these Salts have in reducing unhealthy, excess fat. By their gentle action on the liver, kidneys and bowels they urge these organs to throw off the poisonous waste matters, which, if allowed to accumulate, form fatty deposits in the body. Read how this woman lost fat and gained health:—"I have taken Kruschen Salts every day for nearly a year, and I have not felt so well for many years. My weight has dropped from 163 lbs. to 140 lbs. All my acquaintances say how much younger and better I look. I feel bright and well, whereas before I was always nervous and tired." Mrs. B. Try taking Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Little by little the unhealthy accumulations of fat will slowly but surely disappear. A new feeling of health and vitality will follow—the years will fall away as your form takes on the slender lines of youth.

ONTARIO RIVERS IN FLOOD STAGE

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Gorged with ice, many rivers in central and western Ontario Friday entered a flood stage, and in their rampage caused heavy damage to property. Coot suffered particularly in the spring freshet, the Grand river rising ten feet within a few minutes.

The water in its rush wrecked bridges and swirled several feet deep in business streets. Firemen and police rescued marooned citizens from office buildings. Large cakes of ice floated into the streets.

"FLIGHT"

The supreme all-talking picture of the air and the greatest romance and thrill picture of the year. Planes zooming, dashing and swooping through the clouds, tailspins, loop-the-loops, death defying parachute leaps, hazardous landings and breath-taking air exploits never before pictured on the screen. Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Ralph Graves head the cast of this great picture which every family should see.

"ON TRIAL"

Who was the guilty one? Who killed Gerald Trask? Was it the woman he loved? The friend he betrayed? To which did the finger of suspicion point? It was woman against woman with the love of one man as the stake. Starting is a mild word for the sensations abounding in this mysterious murder mystery. The phenomenal success of "On Trial" when produced on Broadway as a stage play, is attested by its success in the more plastic medium of the screen. Come early and follow it from the beginning.

MR. PENNINGTON HAS VERY SUCCESSFUL SALE

On Tuesday of this week, a very large and successful sale was conducted by Auctioneer Geo. L. Owen, for Mr. C. F. Pennington on the Rae farm two miles south of the city. A large crowd attended the sale, some coming from Edmonton on the north and as far south as Lacombe. The centre of attraction was the livestock, especially the horses, as it is well known that Mr. Pennington is one of the most prominent horse breeders in this country. Everything brought splendid prices, but on account of the depressed condition of the horse market, they sold much below their real value and a wonderful opportunity to secure high-class foundation stock presented itself at this sale.

Mr. Pennington's many friends will be pleased to know that he is to remain with us and become a full-fledged Canadian. He has purchased a nice home in the city from Mr. Sam Anderson, but with his proven ability as a farmer and livestock breeder, we expect to see him, after a well earned rest, take up farming operations again on an extensive scale in this district.

"PRESENT ECONOMIC CONDITION—CAUSE AND EFFECT"

The above question will be the subject of an address to be given by Carl Axelsson, in the U.F.A. hall, Wetaskiwin, on Saturday evening, March 1st. N. J. L. Bergen will also speak at the meeting. Questions and discussion invited. Everybody welcome.

TORRES DEMAND MORE PENSIONS

Ottawa, Feb. 22—More generous treatment to returned soldiers in the matter of pensions will be urged from the Conservative benches in Parliament this session.

Discussion will be opened in the House of Commons by Dr. Peter McGibbon (Cons., Muskoka, Ontario), in a proposed resolution to the following effect: "That any ex-soldier who has served in any theatre of war, who applies for a pension or an increase of pension and submits evidence or an opinion from any reputable physician or surgeon in Canada, stating that his disability is directly or indirectly attributable to war service, the onus of proof shall be upon the board of pension commissioners and that, unless the same be disproved, a pension shall be granted to the said applicant in accordance with the schedule at present in force under the regulations of the board of pensions commissioners."

HOADLEY ASKS LARGE SUM HEALTH DEPARTMENT

On Friday, for the second successive day, Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and health, led the legislature through a three and a half hour session of verbal battling before he emerged with the approval of the house tagged on to a total appropriation of $1,623,054.15 for the department of health, representing the estimated expenditure of the section of government for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1931.

Of this amount $1,597,671.15 is charged up to income account and $25,383 to capital.

This vote is an increase over the estimated expenditure of this section for the year ending March 31, 1930, for which period a total of $1,445,537 was estimated, being $1,418,840 on income and $26,747 on capital account.

As was the case on Thursday, when the department of agriculture estimates were being discussed, the minister plotted his totals through without any item being deleted, reduced or in any way affected.

Nor was there any effort made to have the minister render the public services any less or any less efficient. But practically every vote was challenged.

Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., Liberal leader, again took the lead in interrogating the minister on the different votes and as on Thursday sought to show that administration costs had not been reduced, nor had public services caused the increased expenditures on the part of the government. But Friday's estimates differed from those of Thursday in that Mr. Shaw was left to play almost a lone hand in the matter of criticism. On Friday he was given support from several members, notably his colleague, George H. Webster of Calgary, and L. A. Groux, Groulx.

Votes for the provincial institutions at Keith, Ponoka, Red Deer and Oliver passed without opposition. The appropriation for Keith is $220,822; for Oliver $117,542; for the Red Deer Training school $76,823 and for Ponoka $431,612.

While Mr. Shaw was in a critical mood most of the afternoon, he
